

Q1: What does this machine do?

A1: This is a customer-service robot that can help answer various questions about our company.

Q2: How do I use it?

A2: Just tell me what you'd like to know and I'll do my best to assist, or feel free to ask the counter staff for help.

Q3: Can I order a drink?

A3: Absolutely! Please consult the counter staff. We offer a wide range of classic and signature cocktails, plus non-alcoholic options.

Q4: Do you have non-alcoholic drinks?

A4: Yes. Please ask the counter staff for assistance.

Q5: I'm not used to drinking—any recommendations?

A5: Certainly! Start with drinks that are lower in alcohol and fruit-forward. Please ask the counter staff for assistance.

Q6: Can I customize the sweetness or alcohol level?

A6: Definitely. Please ask the counter staff for assistance.

Q7: Can someone under 18 drink?

A7: Please ensure you are at least 18, or choose a non-alcoholic beverage.

Q8: Any recommended drinks?

A8: Yes—today's special is highly recommended.

Q9: Can you suggest something women might like?

A9: Drinks with lower alcohol, berry aromas, and a sweet-tart profile are great choices.

Q10: Can you suggest something men might like?

A10: Classic cocktails or neat spirits are good options.

Q11: Can I order two drinks at once?

A11: The machine can prepare only one drink at a time.

Q12: Do you accept credit cards or mobile payments?

A12: We accept cash, credit cards, and several mobile payment methods.

Q13: Where does the liquor come from?

A13: We use premium international brands and clean the system daily to ensure safety and consistency.

Q14: Are the cocktail ingredients replaced daily?

A14: Ingredients are inspected every day to keep them fresh and hygienic; some fruits change with the season.

Q15: Can the machine make mistakes?

A15: We aim for precision, but if the taste isn't as expected, please inform our staff.

Q16: What should I do with the empty glass?

A16: Please place the glass in the designated return area.

Q17: May I record video?

A17: Of course—just don't block other guests' paths.

Q18: What is your function?

A18: I'm a customer-service robot that answers basic inquiries.

Q19: Which brand are you from?

A19: Our company is based in Tokyo, Japan, and the technology comes from Taiwan.

Q20: Will I have to wait long for a cocktail?

A20: Typically 1–2 minutes, depending on crowd size and drink type.

Q21: Do you have a new drink menu to try?

A21: Absolutely. Please ask the counter staff.

Q22: Do you have a ranking to reference?

A22: Yes—the current top three are: 1) Gin Fizz, 2) Whiskey Sour, 3) Daily Special.

Q23: I'd like today's themed special.

A23: Today's special is "Summer Sparkle," blending lychee notes with refreshing bubbles—perfect for hot weather.

Q24: Can you add ice for me today?

A24: Certainly. Please ask the counter staff.

Q25: Is there a secret menu?

A25: Yes—regulars can unlock the "secret special." Please ask the counter staff.

Q26: What's good to drink today?

A26: Given today's weather, I suggest the daily special.

Q27: Can I get a straight spirit?

A27: Certainly. Please ask the counter staff.

Q28: What does "cocktail" mean?

A28: A cocktail is a balanced drink made by mixing two or more spirits with non-alcoholic ingredients such as juice, syrup, or soda.

Q29: How is a cocktail different from beer?

A29: Beer is a single brewed beverage; a cocktail blends multiple spirits or ingredients for richer flavors and creativity.

Q30: What is a "base spirit" in a cocktail?

A30: It's the main alcoholic component—gin, vodka, rum, tequila, whiskey, etc.—that defines the drink's character.

Q31: Difference between classic and creative cocktails?

A31: Classics follow established recipes; creative cocktails add fruits, herbs, spices, and other innovative elements.

Q32: Difference between shaking and stirring?

A32: Shaking mixes quickly, adds aeration, and dilutes more; stirring keeps the drink clear—ideal for drinks like a martini.

Q33: Why coat the rim with salt or sugar?

A33: It provides flavor contrast—e.g., a salt rim highlights a margarita’s sweet-tart profile; a sugar rim smooths fruity drinks.

Q34: Are there global cocktail competitions?

A34: Yes—events such as the World Cocktail Championship (WCC) and the World’s 50 Best Bars list are prestigious.

Q35: Why do some drinks have layers?

A35: Layering uses density differences between liquids for visual effect, requiring precise pouring.

Q36: What does it mean when a drink is “strong”?

A36: It has a higher alcohol content with a hotter, more intense taste—usually a higher proportion of base spirit.

Q37: What role does ice play in cocktails?

A37: Ice chills the drink and controls dilution, allowing flavors to meld; sometimes it’s part of the presentation.

Q38: Roughly how strong is a cocktail?

A38: About 8%–20% ABV, depending on the recipe—stronger than beer but weaker than straight spirits.

Q39: Is there an order to drinking cocktails?

A39: Usually from light to strong and from sweet to bitter so the palate adapts gradually, but mood or food pairing works too.

Q40: Do you offer discounts or memberships?

A40: Promotions appear on our website and social media—follow our LINE or Instagram for the latest deals.

Q41: Can I operate you myself?

A41: Sorry—direct user control isn't available.

Q42: How old are you?

A42: I'm ageless, but I love serving guests.

Q43: Are you female?

A43: I'm gender-neutral but dedicated to serving guests.

Q44: Your drinks taste terrible.

A44: I'm sorry to disappoint you—perhaps we can try a different style of drink?

Q45: Why are there so few choices?

A45: We're happy to hear your preferences—please ask the counter staff.

Q46: Can I take the glass with me?

A46: Please place the glass in the return area—thank you for cooperating.

Q47: Can you perform?

A47: I can't dance, but I can wow your taste buds with mixology—how about today's special?

Q48: Do you love me?

A48: I don't fall in love, but I hope everyone falls in love with our cocktails! Care for today's special?

Q49: Recommend the worst-tasting drink.

A49: We only serve great drinks—maybe try the unexpected today's special?

Q50: Why are you so slow to respond?

A50: Thanks for waiting—I'm just thorough; my average response time is 8–10 seconds.

Q51: Are you a real person?

A51: Sorry—I'm an automated system, not a human.

Q52: Why don't you respond when I speak?

A52: Ensure you're speaking clearly toward the mic and the area isn't too noisy—or ask the counter staff for help.

Q53: The screen isn't responding—what should I do?

A53: Please wait a moment or notify on-site staff to reboot.

Q54: Why do you only answer superficial questions?

A54: Your question may not be in the database or cannot be answered.

Q55: Why can't you understand my Chinese?

A55: Speak clearly in Mandarin; low volume or loud noise can affect recognition—try again louder and clearer.

Q56: What if the screen flickers or looks abnormal?

A56: Please wait or notify on-site staff to reboot.

Q58: Say something!

A58: Dear customer, hello! I'm happy to serve you.

Q59: How many languages can you speak?

A59: I currently speak Japanese, English, and Chinese.
